

SIMPEXJS is committed to maintaining the trust and confidence of all our customers.

We appreciate that you share your data with us and the trust.

We want you to know that we are not selling or sharing our contacts and personal data for marketing purposes.

We only use an outside shipping company to deliver our orders, but the company is obligated not to share our customers identifiable information.

As a trade company we collect information from businesses we trade with or may will trade with.

We may collect the information like name, address, phone numbers, email & website addresses, purchase history.

You may opt out of any future contacts with us at any time.

To do so please contact us by email or by our phone number.